Lyngblomsten is committed to caring for the “whole person,” and our Home- and Community-Based Services are designed around holistic health, caring for people’s bodies, minds, and spirits. Many seniors are able to live independently in their communities with the use of a supportive service or two.

Meet five people, each with unique insight and experience to share as a participant of one of Lyngblomsten’s five community-based programs: The Gathering, Care Team Ministry, Parish Nurse Ministry, Community Wellness & Education, and 5-5-1 Club & Café. The participants illustrate how they have been able to use these supportive services to enhance their overall quality of life and maintain independence in their homes as they journey forward.

Meet Pat & Jim Wilmot
Participants of The Gathering

Pat and Jim Wilmot have been involved with The Gathering program (Bethlehem Lutheran Church site) for two and a half years. The Gathering provides a day of respite for Pat, Jim’s spouse and caregiver, and a day of socializing and stimulating activities for Jim who is experiencing memory loss.

“The Gathering gives us independence and a good break from each other,” Pat said. While Jim is at the program, Pat has a five-hour break from her caregiving role to schedule appointments, run errands, and get things done that she usually doesn’t have the time to do when caregiving. “It's my time to myself where I don’t have to be answering questions and explaining things,” Pat said. Jim also enjoys his time at The Gathering. While he was somewhat hesitant about the program at first, Pat said, “Now he feels like he fits in well. He enjoys the experience, the different activities, and always looks forward to the day.” The program exudes creativity and stimulating activities. “Sometimes the volunteers will even call ahead to tell us if there is a ‘theme’ of the day,” Pat said. “I am always amazed at how professional and kind the volunteers are,” she said. “They are always sincere, and they show that they care.” The Gathering has been a life-enhancing experience for both Pat and Jim, as it helps sustain their independence.

Meet Essie Barnoski
Participant of Care Team Ministry

Essie Barnoski and her Care Team volunteer Darlene Hanson have a special connection that is immediately recognizable when you walk in the room. Care Team volunteers function as extended family members doing a broad range of activities, such as friendly visiting, light housekeeping and running errands. Essie has been participating in the Care Team Ministry program through Augustana Lutheran Church (a Lyngblomsten corporate congregation) for more than three years now. Previous experience with a similar program left Essie frustrated, but after being introduced to Care Team Ministry and Darlene, things seem to have fallen into place. The two are like spunky old friends—talking, laughing, and catching up on all the latest in their lives. Darlene visits several times per month, and they enjoy going different places for lunch or coffee and in the summer taking walks in the park. — A Lyngblomsten Guiding Principle

For our participants (residents, tenants, community program patrons), Lyngblomsten promotes dignity through informed choices for living options, respecting individuality, and orchestrating the best life possible.

They talk on the phone often, checking in on each other and just visiting. Their relationship is give and take—both women are passionate about serving, caring for and helping one another. “I couldn’t have a better friend,” said Essie sincerely. “I met Essie at the right time and reached out. It’s my calling,” said Darlene. Both women truly exemplify the opportunity through Care Team Ministry for people to live their faith by serving others.

Meet Corky Donaldson
Participant of Parish Nurse Ministry

Last summer while recovering from hip surgery, Corky Donaldson was visited by Parish Nurse Julia Nordling from Centennial United Methodist Church (a Lyngblomsten corporate congregation). As part of the Parish Nurse Ministry’s mission to bring together faith and health to educate, counsel and help people in the faith community, Julia presented Corky with a prayer shawl and talked with her about her health concerns, recovery, and progress. At the end of each visit, Julia and Corky would pray together. Julia also offered Corky videos of Centennial’s church services when she was unable to physically attend. Now Corky is back home with check-ins every few months from Julia.

Corky has found the Parish Nurse Ministry program to be accommodating in providing other necessary resources and services during her transitions. Through Julia, Corky found that Care Team Ministry services would be helpful for her transportation needs. “So far everyone has been accommodating in providing other necessary resources and services during her transitions. Through Julia, Corky has found the Parish Nurse Ministry program to be reassuring type of thing,” Lillian said, “that if anything is wrong, we will be advised.” Lillian values the program because it helps her keep track of her health, and most importantly, the nurse is familiar with her health history and personal background.

The program also provides an abundance of resources for Lillian, especially when she has health-related questions. “If they don’t know the answer, they will always find out for you and provide you with the resources the next time you meet,” Lillian said.

Not only does the Community Wellness & Education program provide Lillian with regular wellness checks, but it gives her the opportunity to socialize and get to know other community members using the program too. “It’s a good companionship,” she said. “Lillian’s trust and commitment to the program and her continued use of its services has played a role in helping her maintain her independence and stay in her home as health changes occur.

Making History Together
by Dale M. Fagre, Chief Development Officer

For 105 years, Lyngblomsten’s founders and everyone associated with this great organization since them have been “making history together.” The enormity of what has been accomplished is almost too great to wrap our arms around.

It has taken a vast collection of people, talent, determination, passion, and vision along with an extraordinary mission to guide Lyngblomsten this far and to carry us into the future. Lyngblomsten has a unique history of service, innovation and compassion behind all we do to enhance the quality of life for older adults that is virtually unmatched in the senior healthcare space.

On April 29 we will host the Lyngblomsten Foundation Spring Benefit: Making History Together at the Minnesota History Center (see ad on page 16). The Minnesota History Center is home to the Minnesota Historical Society’s collections and provides a place for visitors to discover their connections to the past. This event, formerly known as Spring Rhapsody, will also celebrate Lyngblomsten’s connections to the past, present, and future.

A big part of Lyngblomsten’s past, present and future is the great work of our Home- and Community-Based Services (listed on page 5), designed around holistic health—caring for people’s bodies, minds, and spirits. Many seniors are able to live independently with the use of a support service or two. Some of the programs operate in partnership with area churches, which means service is accessed through the church and not directly through Lyngblomsten.

Since 1985 the Lyngblomsten Foundation (Community Engagement) has been in existence with a simple purpose to raise funds to support Lyngblomsten. During this 26-year history, the Foundation has raised over $20 million to support special projects (such as major remodeling) and programming—especially our community-based services.

You can help us “make history together” by attending the April 29th event, volunteering, making a gift, placing Lyngblomsten in your Will, recommending a loved one or friend consider Lyngblomsten, and of course, praying for Lyngblomsten and its mission.

Lyngblomsten’s Home- and Community-Based Services play an integral role in carrying out Lyngblomsten’s mission of providing innovative services to older adults in order to preserve and enhance their quality of life. Lyngblomsten serves more people off campus in the community than they do on campus, and by providing supportive services like these five programs, we can continue to evolve, innovate, and work harder to help seniors maintain their independence and stay in their own homes.

For Ted, the 5-5-1 Club & Café offers a social atmosphere, entertainment, and friendly people to visit. “It brings me in contact with new people who can often provide different outlooks on life,” Ted said. He finds the club an encouraging place to see other seniors in the community engaging and being active. “The friendly atmosphere and cordiality of the people makes it such a nice place,” Ted commented. The 5-5-1 Club & Café is a fitting environment for Ted’s adventurous spirit and enthusiasm for meeting new people. He has shown how a little involvement and support from the 5-5-1 Club & Café gives him many opportunities to thrive, learn, and explore and belong in the community.

Some of his favorites include a trip to Duluth to the Lake Superior Railroad Museum and lunch along the North Shore, the Minnesota Landscape Arboretum, and Chanhassen Theatre to see the play, “I Do! I Do!” Ted also stops at the café to enjoy lunch some days and frequents the wellness talks and educational programs offered by Community Wellness & Education.

Board Profile

Duane Breken

Foundation

Many people are first connected with Lyngblomsten through their church, and Duane Breken is no exception. Duane and his wife, Carol, are active members of Como Park Lutheran, a Lyngblomsten corporate congregation. In 2006, Sherwin Singsaas, who at the time was a member of Como Park Lutheran and also an active member of Lyngblomsten’s Finance Committee, asked Duane if he would be interested in joining the committee. Duane accepted, and a few years later he joined the Investment Committee. From there, Paul Mikelson, Lyngblomsten’s President/CEO, asked Duane to serve on the Foundation Board. “Lyngblomsten is a fantastic organization,” Duane explained with a smile. “The staff and volunteers are great; I’m happy to be a part of it.”

After working many years for Control Data as a contract manager, Duane is now retired — and enjoying every minute of it. He likes spending time with his grand-children, volunteering, and following sports, specifically at the college level. Duane hasn’t just enjoyed sports on the sidelines his whole life; he was part of the action in college playing football and track at St. Olaf College (where he earned his degree in Economics) and was inducted into the St. Olaf Athletic Hall of Fame in 2004. Duane earned his J.D. degree from William Mitchell School of Law.

In addition to his volunteering with Lyngblomsten, Duane volunteers with Meals on Wheels, Our Saviors Shelter, and Lions International, just to name a few. “I like to volunteer and give back to my community; I think it’s what we need to do. I want to support Lyngblomsten to continue what they’re doing to help people. When people need services, we’re here for them.”

Celebrate Your Role as an Ambassador

by Patricia Montgomery, Director of Marketing Communications

Am • bas • sa • dor — a representative or messenger; delegate; a teller of stories

It only takes a moment to find yourself “on the spot” to respond to the comment, “Lyngblomsten! What’s that?” Anyone who is involved with Lyngblomsten is in a position to play the role of “ambassador” for our organization—telling others about our value and what we do for older adults. When you are familiar with all the ways we serve older adults and their families, you can be an effective link connecting folks with resources that can enhance their quality of life, no matter where they may be on life’s journey.

To highlight and celebrate the role of our ambassadors, we will be hosting the 2011 Lyngblomsten Ambassador Showcase the evening of Wednesday, June 29, at North Heights Lutheran Church.

The Ambassador Awards, presented at the showcase event, will celebrate four people who do an outstanding job telling the full story of Lyngblomsten and representing our Guiding Principles (printed on page 2). Everyone who is in a capacity to serve as ambassadors—participants (residents, tenants, community-based services participants) and their families, Lyngblomsten employees, and our community of donors, volunteers, and corporate congregations will be part of this special event.

Invitations for the Showcase event will be mailed. You also have the opportunity to nominate people for the Ambassador Awards. Details will be posted online at www.lyngblomsten.org as they become available. Please contact me with any questions; I can be reached at (651) 632-5322 or pmontgomery@lyngblomsten.org.

Thank you for being an ambassador for Lyngblomsten and for caring about the older adults in our communities.

April is National Volunteer Month

Thank you, Lyngblomsten volunteers, for all the ways you enhance the quality of life for older adults.

Celebrate Your Role as an Ambassador
by Patricia Montgomery, Director of Marketing Communications

Am • bas • sa • dor – a representative or messenger; delegate; a teller of stories

It only takes a moment to find yourself “on the spot” to respond to the comment, “Lyngblomsten! What’s that?” Anyone who is involved with Lyngblomsten is in a position to play the role of “ambassador” for our organization—telling others about how we enhance the lives of older adults. When you are familiar with all the ways we serve older adults and their families, you can be an effective link connecting folks with resources that can enhance their quality of life, no matter where they may be on life’s journey.

To highlight and celebrate the role of our ambassadors, we will be hosting the 2011 Lyngblomsten Ambassador Showcase the evening of Wednesday, June 29, at North Heights Lutheran Church.

The Ambassador Awards, presented at the showcase event, will celebrate four people who do an outstanding job telling the full story of Lyngblomsten and representing our Guiding Principles (printed on page 2). Everyone who is in a capacity to serve as ambassadors—participants (residents, tenants, community-based services participants) and their families, Lyngblomsten employees, and our community of donors, volunteers, and corporate congregations will be part of this special event.

Invitations for the Showcase event will be mailed. You also have the opportunity to nominate people for the Ambassador Awards. Details will be posted online at www.lyngblomsten.org as they become available. Please contact me with any questions; I can be reached at (651) 632-5322 or pmontgomery@lyngblomsten.org.

Thank you for being an ambassador for Lyngblomsten and for caring about the older adults in our communities.

April is National Volunteer Month
Thank you, Lyngblomsten volunteers, for all the ways you enhance the quality of life for older adults.

Making History Together
by Dale M. Fagre, Chief Development Officer

For 105 years, Lyngblomsten’s founders and everyone associated with this great organization since then have been “making history together.” The enormity of what has been accomplished is almost too great to wrap our arms around.

It has taken a vast collection of people, talent, determination, passion, and vision along with an extraordinary mission to guide Lyngblomsten this far and to carry us into the future. Lyngblomsten has a unique history of service, innovation and compassion behind all we do to enhance the quality of life for older adults that is virtually unmatched in the senior healthcare space.

On April 29 we will host the Lyngblomsten Foundation Spring Benefit: Making History Together at The Minnesota History Center (see ad on page 16). The Minnesota History Center is home to the Minnesota Historical Society’s collections and provides a place for visitors to discover their connections to the past. This event, formerly known as Spring Rhapsody, will also celebrate Lyngblomsten’s connections to the past, present, and future.

A big part of Lyngblomsten’s past, present and future is the great work of our Home- and Community-Based Services (listed on page 5), designed around holistic health—caring for people’s bodies, minds, and spirits. Many seniors are able to live independently with the use of a support service or two. Some of the programs operate in partnership with area churches, which means service is accessed through the church and not directly through Lyngblomsten.

Since 1985 the Lyngblomsten Foundation (Community Engagement) has been in existence with a simple purpose to raise funds to support Lyngblomsten. During this 26-year history, the Foundation has raised over $20 million to support special projects (such as major remodeling) and programming—especially our community-based services.

You can help us “make history together” by attending the April 29th event, volunteering, making a gift, placing Lyngblomsten in your Will, recommending a loved one or friend consider Lyngblomsten, and of course, praying for Lyngblomsten and its mission.

Lyngblomsten Home- and Community-Based Services

A brief description of each Home- and Community-Based program is provided to the right. Contact information for the programs can be found on the Directory on page 2. To learn more about Home- and Community-Based Services, visit www.lyngblomsten.org; click on “Services,” then “Supportive Services.”

Join us April 29 for the Lyngblomsten Foundation’s Spring Benefit, “Making History Together” (see back cover for details). Proceeds benefit Lyngblomsten’s community-based programs.

Lyngblomsten Lifestyle | Spring 2011 5
Meet Lillian Bloom
Participant of Community Wellness & Education

Lillian Bloom has been a participant of the Community Wellness & Education program since 2010. She appreciates the program for her regular wellness checks, which help her keep track of her health, and most importantly, the nurse is familiar with her health history and personal background. Lillian values the program because it helps her know when she needs additional support or resources. She always looks forward to her visits and meeting with Corky.

Meet Ted Striny
Participant of the 5-5-1 Club & Café

Ted Striny has been an active participant of the 5-5-1 Club & Café community center since the café’s grand opening two years ago. His involvement began with Waffle Café.

As part of the Parish Nurse Ministry’s mission to bring together faith and health to educate, counsel and help people in the faith community, Julia presented Corky with a prayer shawl and talked with her about her health concerns, recovery, and progress. At the end of each visit, Julia and Corky would pray together. Julia also offered Corky videos of Centennial’s church services when she was unable to physically attend. Now Corky is back home with check-ins every few months from Julia.

Corky has found the Parish Nurse Ministry program to be accommodating in providing necessary resources and services during her transitions. Through Julia, Corky found that Care Team Ministry services would be helpful for her transportation needs. “So far everyone has been eager to help me,” she said. “I like that these programs are available—you don’t know about them and what’s offered until you need the help.” It is reassuring for Corky to know that Home- and Community-Based Services, such as Care Team Ministry and Parish Nurse Ministry, are able work together to provide her with the most relevant resources and support as her needs change. She can depend on the programs to give her options and guide her in the direction of maintaining independence and staying in her own home.
Lyngblomsten is committed to caring for the “whole person,” and our Home- and Community-Based Services are designed around holistic health, caring for people’s bodies, minds, and spirits. Many seniors are able to live independently in their communities with the use of a supportive service or two.

Meet five people, each with unique insight and experience to share as a participant of one of Lyngblomsten’s five community-based programs: The Gathering, Care Team Ministry, Parish Nurse Ministry, Community Wellness & Education, and 5-5-1 Club & Café. The participants illustrate how they have been able to use these supportive services to enhance their overall quality of life and maintain independence in their homes as they journey forward.

Meet Pat & Jim Wilmot
Participants of The Gathering

Pat and Jim Wilmot have been involved with The Gathering program (Bethlehem Lutheran Church site) for two and a half years. The Gathering provides a day of respite for Pat, Jim’s spouse and caregiver, and a day of socializing and stimulating activities for Jim who is experiencing memory loss. “The Gathering gives us independence and a good break from each other,” Pat said. While Jim is at the program, Pat has a five-hour break from her caregiving role to schedule appointments, run errands, and get things done that she usually doesn’t have the time to do when caregiving. “It’s time to myself where I don’t have to be answering questions and explaining things,” Pat said. Jim also enjoys his time at The Gathering. While he was somewhat hesitant about the program at first, Pat said, “Now he feels like he fits in well. He enjoys the experience, the different activities, and always looks forward to the day.” The program exudes creativity and stimulating activities. “Sometimes the volunteers will even call ahead to tell us if there is a ‘theme’ of the day,” Pat said. “I am always amazed at how professional and kind the volunteers are,” she said. “They are always sincere, and they show that they care.” The Gathering has been a life-enhancing experience for both Pat and Jim, as it helps sustain their independence.

Participant of Care Team Ministry

Ebbie Barnoski and her Care Team volunteer Darlene Hanson have a special connection that is immediately recognizable when you walk in the room. Care Team volunteers function as extended family members doing a broad range of activities, such as friendly visiting, light housekeeping and running errands. Essie has been participating in the Care Team Ministry program through Augustana Lutheran Church (a Lyngblomsten corporate congregation) for more than three years now. Previous experience with a similar program left Essie frustrated, but after being introduced to Care Team Ministry and Darlene, things seem to have fallen into place. The two are like spunky old friends—familiar and recognizable when they enter the house. A special connection has been built over time. “They are always professional and kind the volunteers are,” she said. “They are always ready to attend to the day.” The program exudes creativity and stimulating activities. “Sometimes the volunteers will even call ahead to tell us if there is a ‘theme’ of the day,” Pat said. “I am always amazed at how professional and kind the volunteers are,” she said. “They are always sincere, and they show that they care.” The Gathering has been a life-enhancing experience for both Pat and Jim, as it helps sustain their independence.
